Front Counter ...

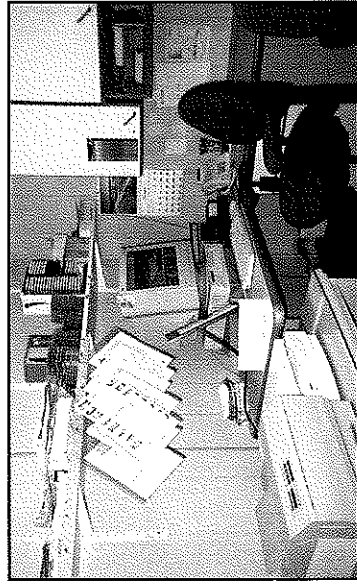

Here is where it all begins. Whether you come in for a simple copying job or an intricate four-color piece, our staff at the front counter will determine your printing needs and direct you towards them. Because of their years of experience in the printing business they can quickly assess your requirements and see that the job gets done to your satisfaction, in a timely manner, and within your budget.

Design & Layout ...

Over 15 years of experience in graphic arts backs up our design & layout department. We will take your basic ideas and turn them into a beautifully designed piece that conveys your message while preserving the style and look of your company.

We strive to keep up with the ever-changing technology in graphics with our Macintosh computers, laser printers and scanner, to provide you with the best quality design work at prices that will not hurt your bottom line. From simple one-color layouts to detailed four-color process, we treat all jobs and customers with the same care and dedication.

We can layout custom forms for clerical work; design business cards, stationery and mailers for general correspondence; or produce artistic flyers, posters, brochures and booklets to meet your advertising needs. If you need it printed ... we can create it!

Production ...

Our Production Manager and Pressmen have over 30 combined years of experience in the printing industry with the capability of producing high-quality work in a timely fashion. They work with up-to-date equipment ranging from small one-color presses to a state-of-the-art Hamada four-color press. Bindery equipment including folders, cutters, laminating machines and a 20-bin suction feed booklet maker occupy the remainder of the production room where your job receives its finishing touches.

We can accommodate most printing jobs in-house but sometimes customers have special requirements that cannot be handled in our shop. This is where our extensive network of industry vendors comes into play. If you need, for example, continuous computer forms or thermograph printing (raised lettering) we simply send your job to one of our proficient vendors where we are certain that quality will not be sacrificed. We must be satisfied with the finished product before we expect you to be.

Our Commitment to You ...

At All Points Printing & Graphics we continually strive to meet our customers' expectations with competent service, high quality work and competitive pricing.
